

A COUGH

Your name, why go on calling it. Having already. Struggled, it does no good like giving in. To a cough. Or trying to, always in question mode, leave. An almost labyrinth, the street going on such a very long time, but even. Even bleary and inattentive, I feel. The color of air, resistless.