

TRACES OF SEAFOAM ON THE BEACH

A word in anyone's language. A sound, translated gesture, an obstacle. Why go on worrying it. A question, which is not a fabric. Fishing for whatever's not a word. Could you tell of the instant, you, in your chair? The great dreams of the night? The fog I breathe?